NINETY-NINTH YEAR Number 209 Telephones 4 and 5 DIXON, ILLINOIS, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1949 12 PAGES PRICE FIVE CENTS

You Pay 131
Taxes

When You Buy
A STEPLADDER
An Editorial.

THE price you pay for a stepladder contains the ladder's share of 131 taxes collected by federal, state and local governments from the time the raw materials are produced until you purchase the ladder. This is not the fault of the manufacturer or the retailer, but of government which has devised a multiplicity of taxes to obtain money from you.

A great portion of the taxes you pay are hidden taxes. These, coupled with the taxes you are aware of paying, such as your income tax, sales tax, real estate tax, gas tax, vehicle tax, etc., cost you at least 31 cents of every dollar you earn and, with taxes now going up rapidly, even more.

Food costs you 18.3 cents of every dollar.

Determined to collect even greater taxes from you, President Truman has demanded that congress enact a series of fabulously expensive measures that he describes as "public benefits." These measures are actually designed to expand the control of federal government over individual citizens and to "share the wealth" by compulsion. One of his schemes is the so-called federal aid to education which will be paid for by an increase in your tax bill. This will cost at least 300 million dollars a year. As endorsed by Mr. Truman, the "poorer" states which do not choose to increase their own state taxes to pay for their own educational institutions, would receive more money per pupil than would states such as Illinois. Under the Truman scheme, Illinois taxpayers would have to pay much more than they would receive in the form of "aid."

If you are opposed to having your taxes increased by lavish federal spending and if you are opposed to deliberate efforts to reduce individual means of vast federal tax comes to a common level by schemes, now is the time to send your protest to your congressman whose vote will be an important factor in deciding your future.

Remember: You are already paying more for taxes than you do to eat!

Your congressman is probably home now during the recess. Contact him and let him know how you feel about the tax situation.

Largest Shoe Firm Has a Record Month

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—(AP)—International Shoe Company, world's largest producer of shoes, had a record month in August with a dollar sales volume of $25,004,000.

This was 11 per cent above the previous high registered in January, 1947.

In revealing the totals, President Byron A. Gray said prices have dropped and that demand has been exceptionally good in children's shoes.

Donald Beach Pays as Reckless Driver

Donald Beach, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Charles Redebaugh on the Lincoln Highway west of Dixon paid a fine of $25 and the costs for reckless driving when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edwin Merrick yesterday afternoon.

Council Defers Garbage Disposal Plan a Week

Hope to Have Plan Ready in Week, Report

Housewives Asked for 'Cooperation'

The city council's new plan for garbage and refuse disposal has been deferred another week.

Mayor Hofmann told the dozen spectators attending last night's session that discussions are still going on on "four or five" methods of solving Dixon's garbage problem.

"Through conference with all or various members of the commissioners, we hope to have a plan ready by next Tuesday on some sort of garbage or refuse disposal method," said the mayor.

"Meanwhile the present open dump has been converted to a fill proposition and we have solved a very, very bad situation for the present. The council will continue to do everything in its power to seek a solution to this matter."

Disposal Men There

Then, in obvious reference to several garbage disposal engineers present for the session, (later revealed to be representatives of an incinerator firm), he told the audience that he felt there wasn't a sufficient number of citizens present to warrant an open discussion with them.

Commissioner Joe Vaile urged private truckers dumping refuse at the city dumping grounds to refrain from using large boxes. He explained that large boxes were difficult to cover under the "landfill" method. It would also help, said Commissioner Vaile, if housewives would smash tin cans, such as was done in wartime for salvage. This would aid in disposing of the large volume of

Frederichs and Helfrich Given Sentences Here

Elmer Frederichs, 20, was sentenced to 1 to three years at the state penitentiary at Joliet yesterday afternoon when he appeared before Judge George C. Dixon after being returned with a special guard from the Pontiac reformatory where he is now serving a sentence imposed in Whiteside county. Frederichs was sentenced to serve one to three years each, on three charges of burglary, one for attempted burglary and one for conspiracy.

Albert Helfrich, 17, who was indicted along with Frederichs, was sentenced to serve six months at the state work farm at Vandalia and to pay a fine of $500 and the costs. He was also placed on a strict probation for a period of five years and the court ordered that when released, he obtain employment and pay the amount of the fine and costs.

Justice Rutledge Slightly Improved

York, Me., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Justice Wiley B. Rutledge of the supreme court "continues to maintain his slightly improved condition," says Dr. Elmer Tower.

The 55-year-old jurist, victim of a cerebral hemorrhage, is "almost out" of the coma into which he sank last Friday, the physician said. Rutledge has been a patient at York hospital here 11 days.

See Ike as GOP Candidate

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is talking so much like a Republican that some Washington office holders are beginning to think he may have his eye on the 1952 GOP presidential nomination.

Despite Eisenhower's recent assertion he hasn't the slightest interest in such a nomination, Senator Ives (R-NY) told a reporter he won't be surprised if the general's name is put before the next party nomination convention.

Agreeing, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) said he thinks Eisenhower would provide tough opposition to anyone the Democrats nominate.

Along with many others in congress, Sparkman said he is beginning to believe that President Truman will be a candidate for another term.

The president hasn't said anything publicly about his plans.

Boy Born Ten Minutes After Mother's Death

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—A baby boy was born last night in St. John's hospital ten minutes after his 20 year old mother died of polio.

The mother, Mrs. Arthur Sachan of Shobonier, had been brought to the hospital in an ambulance from her home 71 miles away. She was placed under an oxygen ten but died shortly after arriving.

A Springfield physician and the Vandalia hospital staff physician who accompanied the woman on the trip delivered the child by Caesarian operation. The baby was placed in an incubator.

Mrs. Sachan was the wife of Delmar Sachan, a farmer.

Don Memler Gets Naval Appointment

The Bureau of Naval Personnel of the Navy Department at Washington, D.C., has assigned Don F. Memler, a member of the Dixon High School Class of 1949, to the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps of Illinois, it was learned here today.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Memler, 321 N. Jefferson Avenue.

The NROTC program is offered by 52 of the leading colleges and Universities and is designed to provide Career and Reserve Officers for the Navy and Marine Corps. The NROTC scholarships are limited for each state and are awarded under a competitive process in which the outstanding candidates are selected. The selection is based on Scholarship, Navy Aptitude and Physical Examinations together with interviews with Navy Officers.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The state's general revenue fund dropped $3,056,000 during August and stood at $180,830,000 at the end of the month, treasurer Ora Smith reported today.

Revenue from four major tax sources declined during the month—sales tax, $13,500; motor fuel, $276,000; motor vehicle, $91,000, and cigarette, $326,000.

Hurricane Lumbers Away from States

Miami, Fla., Sept. 7.—(AP)—A huge hurricane was spreading out in the open Atlantic today, lumbering slowly away from the United States.

The Miami weather bureau's 10 a.m. advisory placed the giant disturbance about 375 miles south-southeast of Bermuda. It was moving very slowly east north-eastward at about six to eight miles per hour.

Union Moves In on Confab Over Teacher

(Please see Page 12 for earlier story).

Oglesby, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The schools superintendent and at least two board members announced their resignation today after a stormy board meeting in which a crowd of persons surged into the room from the corridors outside.

The board reversed its decision of a few minutes earlier and voted to rehire a teacher, Mrs. Helen Mecum, after the crowd entered the meeting room last night.

The board reversed its decision of a few minutes earlier and voted to rehire a teacher, Mrs. Helen Mecum, after the crowd entered the meeting room last night.

Unions In Demand
AFL union pickets had prevented reopening of the city's two grade schools yesterday, demanding that Mrs. Mecum be rehired. The schools reopened today after the board reversed its action.

Supt. Wayne C. Butler today announced his will resign as soon as he can get affairs in shape and a successor is appointed. "The whole settlement resulted from forces used by gangsters," Butler told newsmen. "Mob violence has upset representative government in the schools of Oglesby. The elected representatives of the people have been forced by threats to their physical beings and their very lives to make this decision against their will."

AFL union officials could not be reached immediately. Butler said Isaac Mason, president, and three board members who previously had voted against Mrs. Mecum had told him they are resigning.

Mrs. Gehant Hurt In Car Accident

Mrs. Kathryn Gehant, 64, 1409 W. Ninth street, Dixon, is a patient in KSE hospital today suffering from injuries received in an auto accident at the intersection of Squires avenue and Lincoln Way about 5:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Gehant, driving her car south on Squires avenue collided with another vehicle driven by Harold L. (Clem) Reed, 29, 1004 Brinton avenue. Reed was driving east on Lincoln Way.

Patrolmen Raymond Olson and Bob McCoy, who investigated, reported that Mrs. Gehant was taken to the hospital suffering possible severe skull injuries. Damage to the front of the Reed car was considerable. The right front fender and wheel of Mrs. Gehant's auto also sustained substantial damage.

Berserk Veteran's Toll of Dead Is Now 13; Tells Story

Camden, N. J., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The toll in Camden's river road mass shooting rose to 13 today with the death of 10-year-old John Wilson.

The youngster was the third member of his family claimed by the bullets of a stalking gunman who turned a city block into a place of terror yesterday.

The boy's mother and grandmother were killed beside him as they sat in their car waiting for a traffic light.

Three other persons were wounded in the hail of gunfire.

Thousands flocked to the scene to examine at first hand the bullet holes and other mute evidence of the massacre—described by police as the worst street shooting in the nation's history.

While the stunned families of the victims prepared to bury their dead, police maintained a round-the-clock vigil at the hospital bedside of Howard Unruh, 28-year-old Bible-reading war veteran who collected guns as a hobby.

A bullet was removed from Unruh's hip last night at Cooper hospital—less than 12 hours after he had pumped 33 shots from a German Luger automatic in a meth-

'Clean Things Up,' Council's Ultimatum to Morris Adams

The city council is apparently to take firm steps to remedy a nuisance at the Morris Adams residence, 318 Monroe avenue.

Mayor Fred Hofmann told councilmen last night that the year-old complaint against Adams was finally resolved this week when the owner of that Monroe avenue property was told to clean up his unsightly yard or face legal action by the city.

He referred the matter to City Atty. Gerald Jones, who told the council that Adams, in the presence of his attorney, was given two weeks to (1) connect with main sewer; (2) clean up everything objectionable in his yard; and (3) to alleviate any hazardous fire conditions.

"We can take him into court on any of those violations," said Jones. "He has no way out but to comply with those regulations."

Dr. J. B. Werren, city health officer, also told of the conference city officials had with Adams. He explained that Adams told them that the property was owned by his 83-year-old mother and that his mother object to any "changes" in the property. It was in deference to his mother, Adams said, which caused him to be hesitant in complying with previous city orders.

However, Mayor Hofmann made it plain last night in his instructions to City Atty. Jones that it Adams has not complied with city ordinances within two weeks he will be taken into court.

Hodge Fined $20 on Auto Crash Charge

Raymond Hodge, 2309 Third street was taken into custody last night by Assistant Police Chief Frank Tyne on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Hodge, the police indicated, was involved in a collision on Aug. 27 at College avenue and Third street in which his car and a machine operated by George Berger was damaged slightly.

Hodge drove away from the scene and when he was arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis in police court on the charge, he paid a fine of $20 and the costs.

Ginger Rogers Gets Her Third Divorce

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Ginger Rogers, 38-year-old actress, obtained a divorce yesterday from her third husband, Actor Jack Briggs, Jr., 29, who she described as "everything I've ever dreamed of" when they married on Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 16, 1943. They separated last July 30.

Charging cruelty, Miss Rogers testified that Briggs didn't come home to dinner—even on their sixth wedding anniversary when she prepared the meal herself.

Dixon School Enrollment in Small Decline

A total of 2,208 pupils were enrolled in the Dixon public schools Tuesday, 6½ less than last year, it was announced here today by Alan Lancaster, superintendent of schools.

The elementary schools enrollment was 1,588 as compared with 1,657 on the opening day last year. High school enrollment this year was 620 as compared with 611 on the opening day last year.

Superintendent Lancaster indicated that additional enrollments can be expected during the next two weeks. He pointed out that many Dixon families leave the area during the hay-fever season and that they take their children with them, and return to the city when the hay-fever season ends.

Donald Nicklaus, War Veteran, Dies

Donald Nicklaus, Down Apartment, Peoria Ave., died Tuesday afternoon at the KSB hospital where he had been a patient for nine days. He was born Feb. 26, 1920 in Dixon, the son of Edward and Florence Newbury Nicklaus.

He was in the Marine Corps for four years and was commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Dixon in 1946.

Surviving are his wife, Betty Jane; one daughter, Donna; his father and stepmother; five brothers, Kenneth, Bill and Ralph of Dixon; Frank of Rock Falls and Edward of San Antonio, Tex.; six half-sisters and five half-brothers.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Buckley-Staples funeral home and at 2:30 at the West Side Congregational church. Rev. Adam Lutzweiler will officiate. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will have the services at the grave at Oakwood cemetery.

Philanthropist Wills 23 Homes to Women

Newark, N. J., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The late Wilbur B. Driver, millionaire philanthropist who preferred to be known only as "Mr. X," has bequeathed 23 homes to the women tenants of the buildings.

The will, admitted to probate yesterday, stipulated women as beneficiaries so that "they should have a measure of independence."

The East Orange industrialist made a fortune in metal alloys. He died Aug. 23.

His will said, "For some time I have been interested in aiding to solve the acute shelter problem."

This interest led him to acquire "numerous pieces of real estate so that persons might make their homes therein," the will said.

Dulles Has the Senate Bug

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Senator John Foster Dulles (R-NY) said today he would "gladly accept" the Republican nomination to run for the senate in this fall's special New York election.

Former Governor Herbert Lehman has announced he will accept the Democratic nomination if it is offered.

The contest is to fill the unexpired term of Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, who resigned.

When Wagner resigned in July because of illness, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey named Dulles to fill the seat until November's election.

Wanted to Die With Daddy, Her Request Filled

Atlanta, Sept. 7.—(AP)—"Daddy, I know you loved me very much and I know you know that I loved you, too. I want to go with you."

With those words, a frail, grief-stricken girl collapsed beside her father's casket last night and died.

Nine-year-old Mary Long will get her dying wish. She and her father, Hiram B. Long, will have a double funeral tomorrow. Services for Long were postponed one day so Mary's wish could be fulfilled.

Kirst Request For Permit Is Being Held Up

An application from M. J. Kirst for a license to operate as a dealer in new and used vehicles in a lot at 402 First St., was laid before the city council last night.

The mayor said that he was bringing this license matter to the council's attention because, as he reminded the members, that location had been termed an "eyesore" when it was operated as a used car lot last April. Since then no license has been issued.

Calls It 'Eyesore'
Commissioner Joe Vaile took immediate steps to oppose the granting of a license. It was his view that since the city had rid itself of that "eyesore" it should refrain from opening itself to

Dowding Pays Fine of $100

J. E. Dowding, 1901 Factory street, Dixon, was assessed a fine of $100 and costs, his driver's license was revoked for one year, and he was placed on probation for one year and ordered to pay all damages in a crash with a parked car and a pickup truck on Everett street Sunday night.

Dowding appeared before Judge Grover Gehant in county court today and entered a guilty plea to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition.

Mrs. Maude Bruce Seeking Divorce

Maude Bruce, 111½ W. Seventh St., has filed a complaint for divorce and injunction in the Lee county circuit court against John Robert Bruce. The complaint states that the couple were married here, March 26, 1948, and "repeated acts of extreme cruelty are the basis for her action. She seeks support, maintenance and education of three minor children."

and urges the court to restrain him from in any manner interfering with the plaintiff or any of her children, or threatening her either in her home, in public places or elsewhere and asks the court to restrain him from entering her home, molesting or disturbing the plaintiff or herself and her children.

Council Gets Complaint by Five Clothiers

Say Their Business Is Hurt by Lotteries

The local anti-gambling wave, which has closed city gambling spots to a "near" standstill, may include the so-called "suit clubs," it was revealed at the weekly meeting of the Dixon city council last night.

Representatives of five clothing dealers petitioned council members to investigate the suit club practice, not, as one explained it, "because it was so much illegal, but because it is hurting our business."

It was explained to the council that those conducting these clubs within the city are violating the lottery laws in that they tempt customers with the prospect of a suit by lot, i. e., by determining the winner of a so-called suit through the medium of a treasury report number each week.

They Pay and Pay
The non-winners, it was explained, pay and pay, always with the hope of winning a suit, but nevertheless with the prospect of receiving merchandise equivalent to their contributions at the end of a given period.

Objectors to this practice included the Edward Vaile Clothing store, Boynton-Richards Clothing store, Hank Henry, Inc., Henry Briscoe and the Penney store.

Joseph Miller, of the Boynton-Richards firm, was the principal spokesman. He labeled the suit club idea as "an unfair business practice."

"We've inquired through our associations," said Miller, and have found they are illegal. The attorney general has called them illegal."

Rockford Man Makes Haul
Francis (Hank) Henry, of the Hank Henry Inc., disclosed that the five objectors were aiming particularly at a Rockford individual who, it was later revealed, is doing a lively suit club business within the city. It was variously estimated that this Rockford route man disposed of $50 to 1,000 suits

Mr. Pana, Kingdom Wins Rural Quiz Baseball Tickets

About two or three weeks ago Byron Griffiths, City Editor of The Evening Telegraph offered a prize of two tickets to a White Sox baseball game for the first rural reader to submit the correct answer to a problem. The first to submit the correct answer was A. J. Pana, RFD #3, Kingdom. If Mr. Pana will contact Mr. Griffiths, arrangements will be made for two seats for either a White Sox game, Cubs game, or a football game this fall in Chicago.

Stories of entries were received. The correct answer to the problem was 11751 square feet. Here was the problem:

A cow is tied to the corner of one side of a barn, which is 10 feet square. The rope is 50 feet long. Over how many square feet of ground can the cow graze?

Answer
11751 square feet. Explanation—The cow can graze in a half circular area of 70 ft. radius, two quarter circles of 50 ft. radius, and two quarter circles of 10 ft. radius. Divide the square of 70 by 2 and multiply by 3.1416 (pi); multiply the square of 50 by 2 and multiply by 3.1416 by pi; add 7896.92, 3927, and 157.08. The Telegraph's rural readers know their farming and their mathematics.

Thanks for the many letters. We'll have another for next week.

School Board At Oglesby in Bow to Unions

Oglesby, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—School teacher Mrs. Helen Mecum got her job and the faculty strike against the Oglesby board of education ended.

The board reversed its position against rehiring Mrs. Mecum in a meeting last night and classes in the city's two public grade schools were to start the fall term today after a one-day delay.

The teacher was rehired, however, only on the condition that she would resign at the end of the term. The board previously had refused to retain her for another year on the grounds that her teaching ability was not up to the city's standard. She has been a probationary teacher here for two years.

Picket Schools

Pickets of the AFL-CIO Teachers' Federation picketed Washington school yesterday morning along with members of the Oglesby trades and labor council. They stopped Supt. Wayne C. Butler who led nine teachers to the building to open the fall term.

Mrs. Mecum, a union member, has taught school in this region 29 years but the board had voted three to two against rehiring her for a third term because of the teacher tenure law which provides that after three years she would automatically become a regular faculty member and could not be dismissed without considerable legal action.

Two Hour Session

More than 1,000 persons milled around the school last night while the board deliberated the case in a special two-hour session and finally voted three to two to rehire with the resignation provision.

Throughout most of the meeting, the board stood pat on its refusal. Then one member switched the vote after a delegation from the group outside told the board it would be allowed only 30 minutes more in which to decide the case for Mrs. Mecum and the union.

Mrs. Mecum is married and resides at Spring Valley where her husband is employed at the Dupue zinc works.

Bolivian Revolt Is Thought Stamped Out

La Paz, Bolivia, Sept. 7.—(AP)—President Mamberto Urriolagoitia said last night the Bolivian revolt was all but stamped out with Santa Cruz the only strong point of resistance left.

The rebel radio in Santa Cruz on the Argentine border, announced yesterday the formation of a revolutionary government under Victor Paz Estenssoro. The broadcast also continued to predict victory for rebel forces in the 11-day-old nationalist rebellion.

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 7.—(AP)—One German was killed and another severely beaten by an intoxicated group of American infantrymen assigned to current war maneuvers on the Rhine, U. S. authorities reported today.

Five soldiers of the first division are under arrest pending further investigation of the violence at Baurz, a French zone city on the west bank of the Rhine two nights ago.

Ginger Says Her Husband Didn't Care

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Ginger Rogers told the divorce court Tuesday that her husband, Actor Jack Briggs, didn't come to dinner even on their wedding anniversary when she prepared the meal herself.

In obtaining an uncontested divorce, the 38-year-old actress said of the anniversary last January:

"He called and told me he wasn't coming home for dinner. I had no help in the house so I was preparing the dinner for him myself. He said it was impossible for him to be there, but didn't tell me why."

She Was All Alone

"I waited until 9 o'clock, when I thought was a rather late hour for dinner and then I ate dinner by myself. She added that she was in bed when Briggs came home after midnight."

"He refused to come home at a decent hour on so many occasions," He Was Dream Man

Miss Rogers described Briggs

29, as "everything I've ever dreamed of" when they were married at Pasadena Calif., Jan. 16, 1943. They separated last July 30. Her attorneys told the court that she and Briggs signed a property settlement giving him $5,500 as his interest in any community property. It was her third marriage. Her previous husbands were E. J. Culpepper, a vaudeville actor, and Actor Lew Ayres.

The court today restored her maiden name, Virginia Katherine McMath, at her request.

Missouri Pacific Strike Hour Set

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A spokesman for the Missouri Pacific said today the railroad now is accepting no freight that cannot be delivered by 2 p. m. Friday, the time set for a strike.

That's the effect of a freight embargo imposed by the railroad last midnight.

"Most freight in transit now and which can reach its destination within the next 48 hours will be accepted," the railroad spokesman explained. "But we're not going to get caught with loaded cars on the sidings."

Operating employees of four brotherhoods called the strike in protest over some 282 unsettled claims involving an estimated $1,000,000. The walkout would tie up the railroad's operations and idle about 30,000 workers.

Communists Unfit to Teach in U.S. Schools, Says NYU Man

Members of the Communist party are unfit to teach in American public schools and colleges, Sidney Hook, professor of philosophy and chairman of the department at New York University, declared today.

An individual bound by the discipline and instructions of the Communist party cannot do an honest job of teaching. Prof. Hook says in "What Shall We Do About Communism?" in this week's Saturday Evening Post. "To teach is a privilege won by indications given of capacity and integrity," he explains. "It certainly is not a political right. Although an individual has a political right to join any legal party, the nature and activities of such a party may unfit him for certain types of work."

Blind Red Loyalty

"A sober evaluation of the evidence will reveal that in theory and practice members of the Communist party are committed to grave and systematic violations of the educational equivalent of the Hippocratic oath of the medical profession. They have substituted for their responsibility to their students, for their responsibility to the quest for truth, a blind and partisan loyalty to the objectives of the Communist party."

Far from being victims of the denial of academic freedom, Communist teachers neither believe in nor practice academic freedom, Prof. Hook contends. It is not his beliefs, right or wrong, which disqualify the Communist party teacher, but his dishonorable practices, of whose nature he is aware, he says.

Prof. Hook explains that Communist teachers must introduce the party line in the classroom wherever possible, and that he is instructed how to do this and escape detection. "The classroom is regarded quite frankly as an outpost of the democratic state," he says. "If the Communist teacher cannot capture it, he must neutralize it." The line which the Communist teacher is expected to teach is not something worked out by himself as a result of his own inquiry, it is something laid down by the party leaders.

Outside the classroom, the Communist teacher is expected to recruit among colleagues and students for party and youth organizations; organize "party fractions" within departments, and, where administrative regulations make it possible, control new appointments, influence recommendations for promotions and salary increases and elect sympathetic chairmen; and publish and distribute party-fraction newsletters and bulletins.

Wants No Purge

Prof. Hook does not believe it is necessary, or advisable, to institute a purge of Communist teachers from American schools.

"Once the principle is laid down that membership in the Communist party is prima-facie evidence of unfitness to teach, there will be very few dismissals, if any," the Post author says. "For already teaching members of the Communist party have been resigning from it in droves to remain in the clear."

"What good, then, the adoption of the principle? Just this: the enormous educational and psycho-

The Derby Is Easier to Win Than Title 'Miss America'

By HAL BOYLE

New York.—(AP)—It is much easier today to win the Kentucky Derby than it is to become Miss America.

All a horse has to do to clinch the derby is to run fastest. And it can use all four legs.

But it doesn't have to prove it can ride a human being, sing a folk song, paint a picture, look well in bathing suit and evening gown, do a tap dance or give Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The average racehorse isn't even sure Lincoln ever had an address in Gettysburg.

But to win the Atlantic City beauty contest now a girl not only has to show derby form—she has to demonstrate personality, talent and intelligence. And she goes through a more rigorous training routine than the average derby entrant. She may even have to eat oats (oatmeal) to slim her figure.

Curry-Combing
Many of the lassies competing this week for the nation's $5,000 beauty crown at the Jersey resort spent a week or two in Manhattan getting a final curry-combing. They hire specialists to teach them how to walk gracefully and use makeup artfully.

"I've tramped miles up and down my hotel room learning all over again how to walk," said brown-haired 18-year-old Miss Arkansas—Barbara Brothers, bust 34, waist 23, hips 34. She would like to have a rubber face.

"Mine is all worn out from smiling," she said.
Miss Brothers, besides looking beautiful, can sing, paint water colors, and write poetry. If she wins, she said she would positively reject any Hollywood offers.

Religious Ambitions
"I want to become director of religious education for the Methodist church," she said.

She is sponsored by the eastern Arkansas Young Men's club. Another candidate "Miss Wyoming"—Esther Macleod, 22, bust

34, waist 25, hips 34, spent the last few days before the contest studying at the Barbizon school of modeling. Sponsored by the University of Wyoming, she is a mezzo soprano and wants to continue her study of music.

She's Bemused

Eastern beauty techniques have left Miss Macleod a little bemused. "The hardest thing I had to learn was to put lipstick on with a brush," she laughed. "You get a finer line that way—they say."

Miss Wyoming, who arrived with Stetson hat and cowboy boots, is a water safety instructor and can play the piano as well as sing.

"I can also rope, tie and brand a calf—a small calf," she said.

Unfortunately, even if she borrowed a clothesline, a horse (Miss Montana brought one) and the Hereford heifer that accompanied Miss Nevada she wouldn't be able to demonstrate this talent.

Calf or heifer branding isn't on the contest program—which puts the girls from the west, where women are women, under a handicap.

Miss Arkansas will be one of the few entrants with a claques—three University of Arkansas students who decided to go to Atlantic City and root for her.

storm over the Labor Day weekend.

The search was started yesterday after the body of the fourth member of the sailing party, a young bride, was found lashed to a mast of the 30-foot battered auxiliary yawl, Lorelei, II.

She was identified as Mrs. Laurel Neitzel, 22, of Chicago. Rescuers reached the boat after it had been sighted from the air about eight miles off shore and by a passing lake freighter.

Missing were her husband, Carl, 29, an engineer, and Louis D. MaQuessan, and his wife, Clarence, 22, both of Chicago. The two couples had left in Neitzel's boat Sunday morning for a trip to Michigan City, Ind.

Barkley Dances and Photogs Get Chased

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Vice President Barkley and his attractive friend, Mrs. Carlton S. Hadley, danced last night—but not until photographers were twice escorted from a hotel ballroom.

The news photographers were ordered out of the Hotel Chase ballroom after objections were raised over picture taking.

I have asked that there be no pictures taken while we dance, Barkley said after photographers were escorted out for the second time.

The vice president plans to leave today for Springfield, Ill., where he has a speaking engagement.

Teachers Must Share Blame for Our Maladjusted Children

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Denver, Colo., Sept. 7.—(AP)—A report that school teachers are a serious cause of maladjustment in children was made to the American Psychological Association today.

Child maladjustment is the scientific name for early life training which may make "nuts" of many people when they become adult.

The report was made by Dr. Duglad S. Arbuckle, of Boston university.

"The parent's share in blame for child maladjustment," he said, "has long been recognized. The school is too often unaware of the major role it plays in development of the maladjusted individual."

"Both teacher and child live by their emotions more than by their intellects. Yet the training of the teacher gives little understanding of the emotional part of our lives."

They Are Individuals

He said the harm to the child comes from two sources. One is treating them as if they were merely a collection of little brains. The other from treating them as a group, instead of individuals.

He divided the teachers who cause maladjustment into four classes. Some he said are disciplinarians, others are moralists, still others act like judges on the bench, and some are wishful thinkers who "wear an expression meaning this-hurts-me-more-than-it-hurts-you."

He said many school administrators think the disciplinarian is the ideal teacher. But he added, although physical punishment is no longer used, a disciplinarian still used words and phrases which confuse and hurt children.

Gives Examples

As examples of a disciplinarian's words taken verbatim from school studies, he quoted two phrases. One—"What kind of a boy are you?" The other—"Can't you understand anything?"

He said the disciplinarian type may foster living.

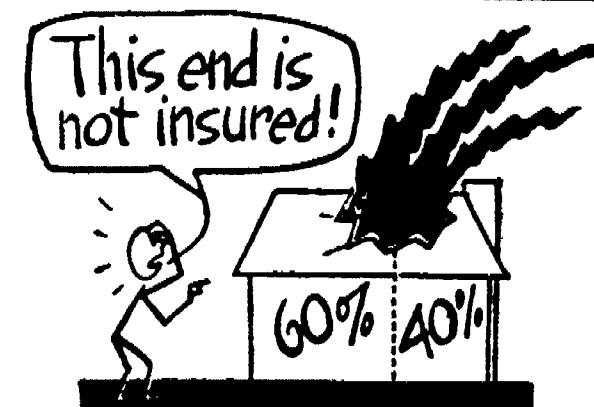

The harm in the judge-on-the-bench kind of teacher, he said, is making decisions for the sake of making them without really understanding the child problem she thinks she is settling.

He said the moralist is self-righteous, and eager to correct

As an example he cited a remark of a "moralist" teacher to a boy who said his parents did not love him.

"You must never, never feel that your parents don't love you."

The trouble with the remark, said Dr. Arbuckle, is that the child still thinks he is unloved and is driven farther into himself by the answer.

Would you be in the dog house if your house burned tonight?
by Don Herold

LAST WEEK I woke up to the fact that I was carrying only about 40 per cent enough insurance on my house.

If your house burned tonight, would you want enough insurance money to rebuild only about two-fifths of it?

Don't kid yourself about this discrepancy. Ask a contractor to give you a rough idea as to what he'd charge you to rebuild.

You'll get an answer which will probably shock you into upping your insurance.

It is utterly ridiculous to carry too little insurance, because, in my opinion, fire insurance is one thing in this country that is dirt cheap today. (The average cost has gone down 40 per cent in 30 years.)

What I say about home insurance applies to furnishings, too.

Also to business property. Replacement values here, too, have skyrocketed in recent years but many owners are fast asleep with their same old pre-war insurance coverage.

Ask us TODAY to help you determine your real insurance needs—it's a technical problem which calls for expert help.

Unnecessary Smoke and Noise

Recently an editorial in these columns mentioned the advisability of the substitution of a diesel engine for the old coal burning switch engine used in switching cars through the residence and business sections of Dixon. Now it appears that a great many Dixonites read the editorial with a large amount of interest and that there is even more demand for such an improvement than we had suspected.

The belt line travels for several miles from near the junction of the Chicago and Northwestern and the Illinois Central railways in the southwestern corner of the city, swinging north through the residence section nearly to the river and then easterly all through the business section of the city and through more residence section to the east city limits and then for a mile or so further east. The noisy switch engines chuff and puff and belch great clouds of smoke all along this route by day and by night. Smoke is a great source of damage to stocks of goods in business establishments and smoke promotes homes else but goodwill among the housewives whose homes are in range of the belt line, and of course this affects thousands of people.

A diesel engine, such as is used by the railroads for their switching operations in Sterling, is relatively quiet and clean. The Telegraph knows that it is speaking for a large number of our citizens when we urge the railroad authorities to give us this modern type of power for switching operations in Dixon.

Congressmen Are Home; Get To 'em

Congress has gone home. The members are on an unofficial holiday. In most parts of the country we have had a terrifically hot summer and Washington, as everybody knows, is not the best place in the world in which to pass the summer. But summer is over and your congressman is at home now.

That means that you have an opportunity to call on him in person or to write to him at once. That means that you can ask him personally, or if not in person, in a letter which he can see comes to him, not in the press of Washington business but in the relaxation of his home, the questions which you as a citizen and taxpayer have a right to ask him.

Here is the priceless opportunity to get your better government at a better price.

Reorganization News, official publication of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover report reports in its September issue that a survey of the various departments and agencies in our government have shown that practically none of them agree with the criticism of their own operations. Here is one in a survey which brought forty-nine replies to Senator McClellan, chairman of the senate expenditures committee:

"The existing and long standing organizational position . . . (of this agency) has been satisfactory, and it is doubtful if it can be improved upon . . ."

That is the most typical reaction. The other replies offer even less tenable arguments.

In other words, the heads of these departments and agencies have no desire to hasten reorganization. And if reorganization is to be carried out it must be done by congress, and action by congress means action by YOU. That, in turn, means only one thing: That you must do your part to bring about BETTER GOVERNMENT AT A BETTER PRICE by getting after your congressional representatives. It is your fight . . . SEE YOUR CONGRESSMAN.

Endless pounding in a churn is not the only way to get the butterfat droplets in cream to aggregate into butter. In a new process, the cream first is subjected to high pressure under nitrogen or other inert gas, then the pressure suddenly is released. A little shaking brings the butter.

Take Precautions to Avoid Whooping Cough Dangers

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

When whooping cough begins to become the patient's chief complaint, it is usually paroxysms of coughing that are the most distressing. The fit of treatment involves first the use of a series of good looking cough drops, and then the use of cough medicine, especially if the cough is between the fits. If there is vomiting, the drops should be given in the face and the medicine in the mouth.

Most doctors believe that the best way to keep airway passages from becoming inflamed is to use a series of good looking cough drops, and then the use of cough medicine, especially if the cough is between the fits. If there is vomiting, the drops should be given in the face and the medicine in the mouth.

Hollywood—The new lady mayor of Toluca Lake was graduating from the Beverly Hills high school.

Which shows you how complicated Hollywood can get.

The new mayor, just installed, is Ann Blyth. Her graduation ceremony was for a scene in Sam Goldwyn's new movie, "Beloved Over All." They shot the scene in the Beverly Hills high school auditorium, renamed Magnolia High school for the occasion.

That certain lady columnist renamed the picture before it even started. She announced "Beloved Over All" as "Beloved All Over." But that's beside the point.

The point is what the lady mayor said to the Los Angeles mayor, Fletcher Bowron, who helped her into office. He handed her a shillalah and told her that if she ever used it on the heads of her city councilmen she would find that it still did no good but would give her a lot of satisfaction.

Mayor Blyth replied: "I'm just hoping they don't give me a monkey."

Now let's talk to Faley Granger, Joan Evans, Ann Dvorak, Phyllis Kirk and Donald Cook.

Farley and Joan just returned from a personal appearance tour with "Roseanna McCoy." A Pittsburgh newspaper reporter asked Farley if his girl friend, Shelley Winters, is really temperamental. Farley assured him she wasn't. Next day a banner line screamed: "Farley Denies Shelley."

BROKEN TOE NOT IN SCRIPT

Ann Dvorak was wearing a frowsy blonde wig, three inches of padding and a broken toe. The broken toe wasn't in the script. She opened her ice box and a milk bottle fell on it. That's something to remember.

The frowsy wig and the padding were in the script. "I'm a real character in this," Ann said. "I'm such a character. I think I'll be afraid to see myself." The padding makes her 30 pounds heavier.

She hasn't seen any of the rushes. "They tell me," she said, "that it looks too sexy. But it's not supposed to be . . ."

Donald Cook was glad to be back in Hollywood after five years. He has been co-starring with Tallulah Bankhead on the stage.

"I came to Hollywood to recoup," he laughed.

Before leaving New York, Cook signed up for a television show. The producer said:

"I've seen some of your performances on television and you look great."

"But I've never appeared before on television," Cook protested.

The television producer then mentioned a couple of movies, starring Cook, which had been released on television.

Cook howled.

"No wonder I look good on television," he said. "Those pictures were made in 1930. I was 19 years younger."

PRODUCER HAS LAST WORD

Phyllis Kirk, the New York model making her film debut in the picture, came to Hollywood a brunette. Goldwyn's publicity department made a mistake and announced, before her arrival, that she was a blonde.

But when Phyllis stepped off the train she was a brunette. She got mad and said something about blondes being a dime a dozen and that she was very happy to be a brunette, thank you.

Then she took screen test and Goldwyn decided she looked better as a blonde. Now she's a blonde. In Hollywood women don't have the last word. The producers do.

HOW TO PLAY CANASTA: 8

Player Melding Out Ends Play

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Here are the remaining laws of four-handed Canasta.

THE DISCARD: After completing a draw and melding (the latter is optional), the player discards. If he plays all of his cards, he does not have to have a card to discard.

FREEZING THE PACK: A deuce or a joker (or a red trey, if it is the first card turned over from the stock pile) freezes the pack. When the up-card is a deuce or a joker or a black trey, a player cannot pick up the pack. He must draw from the stock pile.

A black trey does not freeze the pack. It simply forces the next player to draw from the stock pile. But as long as the pack contains a deuce or a joker (or a red trey, if it is the first card turned over from the stock pile), it remains frozen.

When the pack is frozen, it can only be taken up by a player in his proper turn when he has two natural cards to match the up-card. For example, if the up-card is a five-spot, a player must have two natural fives in his own hand in order to pick up the pack if it is frozen.

When the pack is not frozen, a player can pick it up if he has one natural card to match the up-card and a wild card; or if he can play the up-card on one of the melds previously made by his side.

A player may meld (with or without having a card to discard) without asking his partner's permission. Before going out, though, it is your privilege to ask your partner, "May I go out, partner?" It is always your privilege to ask this question in your turn before making any meld. You do not have to ask. You may, if you wish, just go out. But if you do ask, you are bound by your partner's reply. If he says "Yes," you must go out. And if you are unable to go out, your side must pay a 100-point penalty. If your partner says "No," you must keep at least one card in your hand.

However, when it next comes your turn, you again are privileged either to go out without asking your partner, or, before drawing, once again you may ask your partner, "May I go out, partner?" You are again bound by his reply.

If a player takes the pack by selecting the up-card, he cannot ask for permission to meld out, because he is required to place two cards from his hand on the table to form a meld with the up-card. If a player asks before drawing if he may meld out and partner says "No," he may then either draw a card from the stockpile or take the pack or discard pile.

When a player melds out play ends and the deal is scored in accordance with the scoring table.

TOMORROW: "Going out" and special rules.

Robinson's 'The Cardinal' Exciting Novel of the Church

Captain Orselli, of the Italian liner Vesuvio, laid his hand on the "You will go far in the church," shoulder of Fr. Stephen Fermoye, he said, "because you are not afraid of wickedness."

The suave, anti-clerical shipmaster, won by the young priest's personality, proves an expert prophet. And the reason behind his prediction is well justified in "The Cardinal," Henry Morton Robinson's new novel.

"The Cardinal" follows the career of Stephen Fermoye as a parish priest, as personal secretary to a prelate, as an aide in the Vatican secretariat and, finally, as a prince of the church.

Author Robinson, whose "The Great Snow" was published in 1947, employs his fast-moving narrative talents to compel the interest of readers, whatever their religious preferences, in the story of this Boston-born man and the pursuit of his vocation.

As his life leads him up the ecclesiastical ladder, Stephen Fermoye never forgets his seminary teacher's last words to the newly-ordained priest: "Be careful of the First Sin—Pride, that greatest of temptations to the intellect. Make your stature small before men that it may be greater in the eyes of God."

"The Cardinal" is not a religious book any more than "The Citadel" was a medical book. It is lusty and hard-boiled when Stephen's priestly duties and his obligations toward his family draw him into the worldliness of atmosphere. The author writes of religious things only to make the reader feel the great spiritual force which motivates the man Fermoye in his encounters with the world.

At the same time, Robinson lets readers see through the eyes of Fr. Stephen the inner workings of the Catholic church and its hierarchy. The author gains us entrance into the Vatican councils where we observe with better understanding the foresight and strategy of the world-wide organization which has headquarters in Rome.

Basically, however, "The Cardinal" is the story of Stephen Fermoye, the human being ordained a priest but still burdened with his share of trials and frustrations, some of which shake the very soul of this virile, warm-hearted man.

Robinson's latest—and probably his best—novel seems destined to become one of the most widely-read, widely-discussed stories of our time.

Q—Does the size or shape of a room affect the speaking voice?

A—You speak more slowly in a large room than in a small one and you raise your voice so that you speak louder in a small room with less reverberation. Shape of the room does not affect either the speed of reading or the voice intensity.

Q—Is there an increase in the divorce rate?

A—The increase is world-wide. England and Wales, which 35 years ago had a divorce rate only one-fiftieth of ours, now has a rate half as large as that of the U. S. on the continent of Europe, countries for which data is available, all show a marked rise in divorce rate.

Q—When a pitcher strikes out a batter in baseball, does the catcher get credit for an assist?

A—No. When the batter strikes out, the pitcher gets credit for the strikeout and the catcher gets credit for a putout. There is no assist—unless the catcher drops the ball and has to throw to first.

Q—In railroad jargon what is a "black snake"?

A—It is a solid train of loaded coal cars.

The first sound moving picture was made in 1926.

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Once in a while I find a hand that is very good and yet so technical that it is almost impossible to get it all in one article. Today's hand is an example. I have tried writing it several times, but have had to give it up as the article became either too long or too confusing. Today, however, I am not going to try to clarify it. I think it is a great hand and has a fine point in it also.

The declarer who made the contract was Tobias Stone, one of the keenest analysts of hands that I know. On the opening lead of the six of spades, dummy played low, East put on the five and Stone won with the jack. At this point he made a peculiar play. He led the king of hearts. East won with the ace and returned the deuce of spades. This was won with the king in declarer's hand.

The ten of diamonds was led, West played the queen and the trick was won with the ace in dummy. The seven of hearts was led and won by East with the queen. East now made a very tricky play. He did not return the seven of spades. He kept that concealed, returning a small heart which declarer won with the nine.

Now if Stone were to throw East back in the lead with a heart, he should have a spade to set out with. Instead Stone cashed one ace of spades. He also cashed one ace and king of clubs. Then he led a diamond and East was able to cash the king and nine of diamonds. But now East had to lead a heart which gave Stone another heart finesse and his contract.

As I said before, I know there are many other ways of playing this hand, but Stone claims this is the way to make three no trump.

"National Dog Week" this year is from Sept. 18 to 24. We are publishing the poem below at the request of friends who want to see the week observed here:

Honest, Mom, I didn't coax him. He sort of barked along behind. Honest, Mom, I think he likes me—If I keep him you won't mind."

Look, his little tail keeps wagging. See how cute he looks his ear. Honest, Mom, don't think I'm bragging. He seems to like it here.

Honest, Mom, he'd be so useful. He could help me with the chores. I'll just bet he'd pull a wagon. With groceries from the store.

Some youngsters have to be born salesmen. If they get their folk's consent. To keep a faithful dog companion. (That was nature's real intent).

Yet man, men who have succeeded. Who've kept nature up and up. He won't but he'll do character needed. Who in dog's eyes, loved a pup.

By Westbrook Pegler

Gen. Vaughan Has Not Yet Reached the Depths Reached by the rule of The Holy Mahatma of Hyde Park

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York, Sept. 7—Frowsy as his conduct has been, General Harry Vaughan reflects the ethics of our rulers from the White House down through the bureaucratic outposts and of the people, themselves.

He is a synthetic general, morally far inferior to the West Point ideal. This high standard was diluted and degraded by the creation of emergency generals out of civilian stuff during the war and the hasty promotion of second rate West Point captains and majors who would have been passed over in the normal course.

This is no back-hand swipe at Vaughan. By the standards of ordinary, walk-around Americans, he is respectable. Contrary to publicity motivated by the anger of reporters who got masculine answers to insulating questions, he is not given to brawling and is almost teetotal. Neither is he a tin soldier, but the kind of patriot who devotes time, energy and study to National Guard and reserve business between wars and reports for duty in the emergencies. These are not polished officers but we are fortunate to have them. Being civilians, they are ethically uncouth by the high West Point standard. So are the people.

Roosevelt Example

Vaughan's conduct in the matter of the freezers was a bow to the example of the Roosevelts. Eleanor got a $7,000 mink coat from a New York furrier who was satisfied with the return in free advertising. The gracious lady had a low resistance to tributes of substantial value and she accepted on a pretext implicating American womanhood. The aquamarine cobbles which she received from a Latin-American client of our large has never been evaluated to the public and the lady's mumble as to value and actual ownership of this perquisite on the election returns leave both in doubt, according to plan.

The people endorsed these and worse practices and the low ethical standards which they bespeak. They knew the Roosevelts had profited in national calamities and their election of Roosevelt for his third term and, finally, a fourth, was explicit approval of graft by nepotism, "pretexts" and a type of five per-centism which Elliott and Hermy practiced unblushingly.

Her Superb Gall

The widow refers to "the rather sordid practice of people who claim to have contacts in high places and thereby fool trusting people."

This is superb gall because, in February, 1944, it was shown before a senate committee that Elliott wrote to Steve Early urgently interceding for a privately owned Texas power company.

"I am genuinely and personally interested in this," Elliott said. "I know these people and they will do anything necessary—. If you need any facts, call me—. Please, do everything to get that nothing is decided definitely until I can see you in Washington."

This was lobbying in the White House by a man who preyed upon others in cases which were so thoroughly proved that denial was abandoned. Charles Harwood admitted that he put $25,000 into Elliott's hands at the solicitation of Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, Hall, in the hope of a job as judge of some federal court. So it seems unlikely that Elliott's intercession for the power interests was non-commercial.

Another lavish deep-freeze precedent is found in the case of Charles Michelson, the press-agent of the Democratic party and a White House intimate. He drew $15,000 a year from Crossley radio that time Crossley was before the communications commission for a valuable concession. Crossley's position was legitimate, but virtue is not its own reward before bureaucrats beholden to the Hyde Park standard of morals. The $15,000 to Charlie Mike was calmly regarded as honest cash.

The Slots Again

General Vaughan testified in—

After all, nobody is going to accuse her of being a back-seat driver.

LET'S NOT PRETEND

And if she has the misfortune to marry a man who hasn't outgrown the tendency to drive with a flourish and take chances when he's at the wheel of a car, she goes right on being a good sport about his driving.

She pretends with him when he gets into minor trouble that it was the other driver's fault instead of calling a spade a spade and saying: "Look here, you had it coming and if you don't start driving more carefully you're going to get in a much worse wreck one of these days."

As long as men insist on doing the driving when they are in the family car, women have a perfect right to back-seat drive, when back-seat driving is indicated.

After all, just because a man is willing to risk his own life doesn't give him the right to risk the lives of his wife and children. And if his wife doesn't tell him off, who is going to?

★ RUTH MILLETT ★

Warn Your Husband If He's Reckless Driver

"Of course, I wouldn't say this to Bob. But it was bound to happen some day. You know how fast he drives," said a wife whose husband had that day landed in a hospital after an accident that never would have happened if he had not been speeding.

No, she'd never admit to Bob that his recklessness was a direct result of reckless driving. His driving had been scaring her to death for years, but she never complained about it.

Such fun has been made of women's back-seat driving that women let men take chances with their own necks and with the lives of their wives and children, rather than "back-seat drive."

From the time she has to start up with any kind of driving. She may be shaking inside because her date has had too much to drink to be at the wheel of a car, or because he's in a show-off mood and has decided to find out just how fast the old bus will go. But she puts a smile on her face and acts as nonchalant as he does.

After all, nobody is going to accuse her of being a back-seat driver.

And if she has the misfortune to marry a man who hasn't outgrown the tendency to drive with a flourish and take chances when he's at the wheel of a car, she goes right on being a good sport about his driving.

Britain's Socialists Have Tough Election Road Ahead

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

England's experiment with Socialist government is headed for a stormy showdown in the next general election, which will determine whether the country wishes to continue the regime or return to the old system of free enterprise on which the greatness of the empire was built.

The labor (Socialist) government which came to power in July of '45 would have a normal life of five years — that is, until next summer. However, England's economic crisis has reached a grave pass that it's anybody's guess whether it will get better or worse. This confronts the Socialist leaders with the problem of whether to hang on until the end of their term — in hope of improvement — or to force an early election on the chance that things are better now than they will be later.

Call Crystal Gazer

As things stand, that decision must hinge largely on crystal gazing. Much will depend, it strikes me, on the outcome of the British-Canadian-American conference opening in Washington today to seek a solution of John Bull's predicament. If relief can be devised the Socialist political chances might be improved.

England's Socialist leaders are under no delusions about the political dangers ahead. Both Sir William Lawther, president of the Great British trades union congress, and James Griffiths, chairman of the Labor party, warned the annual conference of the T.U.C. Monday that Socialist is facing a tough fight.

This blunt warning was aimed at wildcat strikes which have been complicating the economic crisis. Both leaders declared labor might lose the next general election if it didn't stay on the job. Sir Wil-ham asserted that some work stoppages have been instigated by Communists.

Leaders Worried

So Britain's socialist leaders are worried—and for good reason. Things haven't worked out as they anticipated when they took office. Economic difficulties, which they inherited as the result of the war, have gone from bad to worse.

Inevitably there has arisen the searching question of whether the situation has worsened because of Socialist policies or whether the same misfortune would have dogged the Conservatives if they had been continued in power. That's a question which the voters most certainly will want answered before they go to the polls.

The burden of proof will rest with the Socialists, and it won't be easy to produce the evidence. They can claim with perfect right that they inherited serious economic difficulties. Few will dispute that. But the next question is tough:

A Big Question

"Have the Socialist policies during more than four years of government, improved the economic situation any?"

The answer obviously is in the negative. This puts it up to the party to prove to the public that Conservative policies would have met a similar fate. And here again we enter the realm of speculation. The cold fact is that the labor government departed radically from the system of free enterprise (damned by Socialism as "capitalistic") and instituted a very considerable program of nationalization of industries and even of medical services. But still the economic crisis grew.

Long Range Effect

What the long-range effect of such a policy might have on British economy is a matter of speculation. The question already arises, however, as to how much distrust has been created by nationalization. Is private capital being deterred from investing in non-nationalized industry? Has production slumped in non-nationalized industries because of lack of public investment which are needed for renovations and equipment?

We shall have to await the election for light on those questions. That is, unless meantime Prime Minister Attlee's government can pull a rabbit out of that hat and start England on the road to quick recovery.

Marines, Mexicans Honor War Dead

Vera Cruz, Mex., Sept. 7—(AP)—U. S. marines and Mexican veterans who fought them jointly decorated monuments to Mexican dead here in the marine landings of 1947 and 1948.

The ceremony took place yesterday after the arrival of U. S. destroyer division 122 on a training cruise. City and port officials, naval school cadets, and representatives of the U. S. embassy attended.

Death Valley has fewer deaths than other U. S. areas of equal size because it has fewer people.

The United States annually produces 225,000,000 100-pound sacks of wheat flour.

Dirksen-Lucas Loom as Sure Contenders for Senate Toga

By LOUIS J. KRAMP

Chicago, Sept. 7—(AP)—Senator Scott W. Lucas of Havana and ex-Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin appear to be sure contenders for Lucas' senate seat next year.

The big question, as the fall politicking season starts in Illinois, is whether either will have primary opposition next April.

Right now it looks like they have a clear field.

Although neither Democrat Lucas nor Republican Dirksen has formally announced his candidacy, both are busy making speeches and issuing statements that sound like they're running.

Dirksen, in fact, has let it be known he will kick off his campaign at a testimonial picnic this month at his Tazewell county home town. Lucas may wait until after the first of the year.

Speculation about possible Dirksen opponents in the Republican primary includes the names of Richard Yates Rowe, of Jacksonville, former state treasurer and secretary of state; and Richard J. Lyons, Libertyville, former state revenue deputy director who sought the senate nomination before without success.

Rowe may hold off and go for governor in 1952.

he and ex-Gov. John Stelle are lining up a rebel slate.

Both have bucked the regular slate in previous years. Stelle had gone along, however, since his unsuccessful revolt against the Jake Arvey-George Kells state party leadership almost two years ago.

There is considerable talk that Adamowski might run even if his chances of beating Lucas seem slight. This is based on a presumption that Kennelly would use the chance to sound off bluntly the rather subtle public beats he has expressed against Stevenson's state regime and the Lucas-Irman national leadership.

He's Being Shy

Adamowski isn't talking. Kennelly says go, however the 42-year-old Adamowski probably would run.

If he does, it might provoke a major split, with Kennelly on one side against Lucas and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson, as the regular organization's state ticket leader last year, seems certain to support Lucas, who is likely to get the organization nod if he asks for it.

Adamowski, an influential party leader during his 1930-40 years in the legislature, denies rumors that he is yes to the first question.

Kennelly Still Peeved?

Kennelly's failure to show up on Democratic day at the state fair last month is interpreted by some politicians as a sign that the senator is still sore about some things.

One of the big questions about Dirksen is whether he will get active support from Col. Robert R. McCormick and the Chicago Tribune.

Another is what Republican leaders will board his campaign wagon.

Some politicians say the answer lies to the first question.

To the second, they say Dirksen may get help from Simon A. Murray, former GOP state auditor, and from Chicago Alderman Theon W. Merryman, who two years ago urged former Lt. Gov. Hugh Cross to run for governor.

But he also may win support of the regular GOP organization, whose money-raising leaders will talk campaign plans Sept. 22 at Springfield.

Dirksen's recent speeches suggest he has repudiated some of his so-called international views, such as foreign aid, since he retired from congress a year ago.

Although he was a Dewey delegate to the 1948 GOP national convention, while Col. McCormick led the majority of the state group in plugging for Taft, there has been no public sign that the Tribune is hostile to Dirksen.

There aren't many workers, however efficient, who won't take time out for a little relaxation when the boss is out of the office.

By FRIDAY

Although the personnel of the Classic loop, which opens tonight at the Recreation, is very nearly the same, three of the league's sponsors have changed, with the veteran Royal Blue five Manhattan Cafe, and the E.K.s withdrawing this year their places being taken by Quality Cleaners, Coffee Implement and Valle Clothiers.

Canadian Spa: The Fyr Fytters of the Commercial loop, saved up their prize money for the last three years and this summer took off for the Canadian wilds for some fancy fishing. The keggers making the trip were Frank Randall, Orville Hoyle, Glen Willard and Rollic Zentz. Cliff Volk, the other member of the squad, was unavoidably detained in Dixon, just returning from his honeymoon. The first morning at the fishing grounds, everyone was in a tremendous hurry to try the bragged about fishing and made a concerted rush for the dock, with Frank Randall being a little over-anxious and plunged into the lake in full field equipment. After a good bit of fishing around the other fellows were able to pull him out, and had to cool their heels while Frank changed to dry clothes. We only hope Frank enjoyed his swim as much as the other team members enjoyed telling about it.

After laying out a couple of seasons, Ed Jones is returning to the alleys this season with the Valle Clothiers of the Classic loop, giving the keggers another lawyer to settle arguments which may be a good thing with the new electric eye foul spotter at the Recreation, although the electric eye will probably win most of the disputes.

It might interest the keggers to know that almost every profession and business is represented on the drives, even the dentists and bankers being represented by Dr. Lazner and Max Van Scoy, respectively. Only the M. D.'s fail to have a member on the teams, probably due to their inability to know when they might be called. Dr. Fleming of Paw Paw is the only one we know of that enters regular play, and several times when bowling against him, have had to take his average in the middle of his set, while he attended to some emergency.

Dropped in at the Recreation last night with our daughter, who will be able to cheer for us this season (we hope!) with the idea of a little practice before going into league play tonight but after watching Ed Worley, Harry Cook, Fred Meyer, Jr., Dwight Hintz, George Wagner and Sonny Knack on three or four feet so discouraged we gave up. Even the accurate City Champ Ed had three or four misses while we were watching which should give you an idea of how the other keggers were doing.

Dukes Unimpressive in Scrimmage

COUGHLIN'S CORNER

By CLIFF

IF YOU'RE A FOLLOWER of the Dixon Dukes and are anxious to know what is to be expected of them athletically this year, you might take a look through the stadium fence any time in the next few weeks. There on the practice field the future pattern of things to come—the athletic policy—is being established.

IT'S A GET TOUGH POLICY. A "produce or else" policy. It's a policy drafted after careful consideration. Maybe it's one which the public will disagree. The "public" meaning the ticket-buyers, the parents, and the school patrons. We don't think so. The clamor for a "winning" team has been too insistent.

ASSISTANT COACH Lon Scofield, who handles the tackles and guards, perhaps set the keynote for the whole program last night. After he had put 10 "center-line" candidates through a rugged, bruising drill which even made the spectators wince, he allowed them a breather.

"You'll be ready," he said. "You'll be ready for that first one. This isn't fun. Football isn't fun and whoever says it is is crazy. It's just a lot of hard work."

SOME WILL ARGUE THAT football—all athletics—should be "fun." We'll go along with that. But when your opponent starts playing for keeps, you either start sending solid punches, so to speak, or drop out of the "play for keeps" league.

And there's a strong suspicion, correctly arrived at, that the Dukes have been in the "fun and no work" league for some time. They'll have to change their thinking—or drop along the wayside.

THE DIXON'S CHURCH Softball league is holding its annual banquet Thursday at the Loveland Community building. Grace-Dixon, which copped both sections of the summer-long schedule, will be officially presented the trophy.

A NOTE from the Dixie Gun club bulletin: "This will notify you that our 1949 annual fall festival will be held Thursday, Sept. 8, 1949, at Harold Tuttle's cottage, east of Nelson. In event of inclement weather we will go to Fry's cottage (Ed's note: Roof leak?) at White Rock near Grand Detour. So for sure this gathering will be held regardless of anything." (That should be definite enough!)

Incidentally the club has scheduled its annual South Dakota pheasant hunt for the week of Oct. 23. They'll go to Miller, S. D., if they haven't already been barred since last year's trip!

Rock Island's ZT Formation Newest Thing on State Grid

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Flora high school which seldom loses on the gridiron apparently has the makings of another fine football team this year.

Coach Bert Dancy, starting his 23rd season at Flora, isn't touting his current batch of pigskin chasers. He points to the scarcity of holdovers from his 1948 North Egypt conference champion eleven—just four.

But rival coaches already are plotting ways of stopping Fullback Don Hall, the hard running Flora half who galloped all over the place a year ago. And they know all about Dancy's team-molding skill.

Dancy's outfit will be shooting for its 10th North Egypt pennant in 20 years—its fourth in the last five years and fourth undefeated campaign in 13 years.

Returning regulars besides Hall are Quarterback Eddie Smith, Tackle Jack Staley and Guard Harold Davis. Some likely looking prospects are on hand to help out.

In the Northwest loop, fans are anxious for a glimpse at the ZT offense Coach H. V. (Shorty) Alquist plans to unveil to foes of Rock Island's Rocks.

Alquist's formation is causing about as much stir as the V-8 system introduced at Centralia last year by the veteran A. L. Trout. The Rock Island strategist describes the ZT as a blend between the T and the single wingback styles.

When it comes to preserving winning streaks, the Murphysboro Red Devils have the most at stake. The Red Devils launch the new campaign bidding for their 26th consecutive victory. Murphysboro, which conquered all opponents in 1948 to win its third straight Southwest Egyptian crown, has whipped all seven since Harrisburg managed a 6-6 tie in the 1948 curtain raiser.

St. Louis' Warriors will show one of the biggest players in the North Central conference—if not in the entire state—in Tony Pizarro, 290-pound lineman.

There are a lot of new coaches making debuts in the Big 12. One of them, Norris Patterson of Danville, is ex-

Coach Owens Gloomy After Poor Workout

All was gloom in the Dixon high coaching headquarters last night over what Head Coach Sam Owens described as the worst showing the Dukes have made this season.

Maybe it was the holiday let-down, but certainly Owens had a right to be gloomy. He sent the varsity through a stiff three-hour drill in the drizzle, a workout climaxed by a tough scrimmage in which he used an assortment of backs and line candidates.

Out of it emerged the blunt truth that the Dukes have a long way to travel to be considered "ready" for their opener against Lyons of Clinton, Ia., on Sept. 16. The backs muffed blocking assignments, missed holes, and signals, and the line, although the brightest spot in the dreary picture, did not charge with the expected finesse of a veteran outfit.

"This is the worst showing they've made this year," said Coach Owens. "Honestly, I don't know what to think."

He was particularly perturbed with his backs, some of whom looked unusually unfinished even in the signal drills. The foursome appearing the most polished were Floyd Acker, junior quarterback, Gabriel Santos, senior fullback, Gerry Wakeley, tailback, and Dick Dusing on the wing.

Coach Owens used two other combinations—signals. They included one quartet of Dick Santos, Dick Kelley, Ray Flower and Bill James, and another consisting of George Aschenbrenner, Kelly Kappeler, Don Bennett and Bob Russell.

"At the moment," said Coach Owens "they'll work in those combinations. But you can count on some changes if things don't improve." Nevertheless he was impressed with the running of Acker and Santos.

Meanwhile the line candidates, particularly the guards and tackles were getting rough treatment. In perhaps the toughest drill of the year, Assistant Coach Lon Scofield shoved them into heavy individual work prior to the scrimmage session.

In the scrimmaging, Scofield singled out the work of Bradley Nussbaum as particularly outstanding. Nussbaum, playing in a linebacker spot, disclosed fine eagerness in coming to grips with the situation at hand.

Junior Sportsmen To Meet Thursday

The Dixon Junior Sportsmen are to meet at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at Page park, Mickey Hanan, director, announced today.

Members are asked to bring their bows and arrows and air rifles.

Bums May 'Retire' Shotton; Boudreau, Onslow on Fire?

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Report trucking in from Brooklyn via the Brighton Beach local is that some of the Dodger players are distinctly unhappy about Barney Shotton's handling of the club.

There's a strong feeling that Shotton will be allowed his wish to retire to Bartow, Fla., next season. Come to think of it, more than one major league manager must be feeling uneasy now that the season is in the homestretch—notably, of course, Jack Onslow of the White Sox. There's a growing suspicion that Billy Southworth won't return to the Braves. Bill Vecek might renew his efforts to depose Lou Boudreau, unless he disposes of the Indians first. And who would want to say for sure that Billy Meyer, whose health isn't too good, Frank Frisch, Leo Durocher and Zack Taylor will be on duty next spring?

Michigan State, newest member of the Big Ten, hopes to get out of the "Little Cow college" class in football by whipping mighty Michigan this fall. But the Spartans still get a belt out of retelling an incident which happened when that designation still was correct. As usual, the university was giving "the Aggies" a terrific pasting in an early-season game. . . . during the second half Fielding Yost, then Michigan coach, spotted a battered, bloody Michigan State player heading toward the locker room. "Hey, young fella. The game isn't over yet," Yost shouted. "Mr. Yost," the young Aggie responded. "We were told we were coming down here for experience. I've had mine."

SHIRLEY'S CHANNEL TRY FAILS—Shirley May France, 17-year-old Massachusetts schoolgirl, is shown stroking through adverse tides in the English channel just before she protestingly gave up. Ill, cramped and in tears, she was lifted aboard her pilot boat on her father's orders, only eight miles from Dover, England.

'I Cried Bitterly,' Says Shirley; 'Took Terrible Pounding from Waves; Sea Tore Off Grease'

By SHIRLEY MAY FRANCE Dover, England, Sept. 7.—(NEA)—I may have been beaten by the English channel but, in one way, I won, too. I won the knowledge that I can swim that mean stretch of water.

The channel is the toughest opponent for a swimmer there is. It taught me a lesson I'll never forget. It taught me, for one thing, that it has more "second wind" than any swimmer has. It taught me that a would-be swimmer must approach it with the utmost respect.

That's where I made my biggest error, the error which cost me the chance to beat it. I started swimming when the weather was bad, but I knew it would get better. I figured I could swim out the bad part, then have a cinch the rest of the way over.

I took a terrible pounding in the first five hours off the coast of France. It not only slapped all the grease off me but chilled my right arm so seriously I had to shake it to keep the circulation going.

Coach Harry Boudakian smeared so much grease on me that I had to ask him, when I first entered the water, if it was cold or warm. But later, after the waves tore off the grease, I began feeling chilly from time to time.

Once I called for broth, but the coach found it was fatty and gave me tea without cream or sugar instead. For some reason, it turned my stomach and I was sick for the first time in my entire swimming career.

About ten miles out, I got my second wind but, instead of giving me increased stamina, my left arm and left leg were almost paralyzed by the cold. My Dad kept shouting to me to close my fingers while swimming. I was afraid to tell him I couldn't close them because they were stiff with the cold.

The coach didn't fool me. I treaded water while he read me lovely telegrams from my mother and my friend, Philip Mickman, who swam the channel a few weeks ago. But while he read I could see him watching me narrowly all the time. And I caught his signal to the pilot, Charlie Burwill, to get Dad who was at the moment, on an accompanying schooner.

Dad was so excited he forgot his shoes. He stood barefoot on the deck of the pilot boat and looked me over. I tried to keep from turning blue but Dad spotted the fact that I was frozen and shouted "Come on out this minute."

I screamed "No, no!" But the coach quickly leaned over and tried to grab me which disqualified me for being touched. I started to cry and swam away from him. I cried bitterly because I couldn't help feeling I'd let everybody down who believed in me.

I was ashamed to face the crowd of British people who stood in front of the hotel when I was brought back but they applauded me like the nice folks they are and it made me feel much better.

FORT WORTH CHAMPIONS Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Fort Worth's Cats finished on top of the Texas League standings for the second straight season. The Cats yesterday clinched first place by winning the first game of a doubleheader with Tulsa 3-2. Tulsa won second place in the standings.

Notes From the Great Outdoors

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—You fishermen with a few days vacation left, take it in the Missouri Ozarks.

Pack your fly and bait casting tackle, you'll need both, and take a crack at those Bronze Backs and Walleyes in the Current river. With a five pound, two ounce Bronze back on a fly, several four to four and one half pounders and some good sized Walleyes to our credit, all of them from the Current, we feel more than kindly to this stream.

You'll be seeing some of the prettiest country and finest water in the Midwest in that stretch of river between Van Buren and Doniphan. And now, with the temperature dropping, you'll be able to enjoy it.

The cool weather means Walleyes (Jack Salmon in those parts). Here's where the casting rod—and a deep running plug with lots of action—fit into the picture. You'll find most of these lunkers down in the deep, blue holes in the quiet eddies.

If you're looking for trouble cast out let your plug settle then reel in slowly. When the explosion happens you may be latched onto a big small mouth instead of a Jack.

Reserve your bait casting for the deep, relatively quiet stretches. (You'll need the flies—of the local variety—for the fast water. These locally tied fly getters are thick bodied and bloom out behind a Colorado spinner.

This is fishing where you'll need a guide to handle the strange looking, 24-foot boats made especially for this water. The Current is too fast and treacherous for strangers who came to fish.

The stream, about half its volume coming from the ice cold depths of Big Spring is heavily fished in summer. It's no strike-on-every cast water. But if you've worked hard on a day's float you should have a good string.

Pirates Recall Dozen Rookies

Pittsburgh, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates recalled 12 minor leaguers today, boosting their player roster to 37—three less than they're allowed after Sept. 1 under major league rules.

General Manager Roy Hamer said how many of the 12 will be brought up before the end of the season will depend on Manager Billy Meyer's needs—and on the duration of playoffs in which some of the players may participate.

The 12 whose options were lifted include: From Indianapolis of the American Association—Outfielder Ted Beard, First Baseman Les Fleming, Second Baseman Jack Casim, Catcher Earl Turner, Pitcher Forrest Mann and Pitcher Elmer Riddle.

From Davenport, Iowa of the Three-I league—Infielder Reno Debenedetti, Pitcher Fred Strobel.

Bud Barker, Syracuse U. backfield coach, is the former head basketball coach at Muhlenberg.

DiMag, Berra May Return for Crucial Series

By The Associated Press The New York Yankees, leading the American league since the opening gun, face their severest test of the season tonight when they open a vital three-game series with the challenging Boston Red Sox at Yankee Stadium.

Casey Stengel's crippled Yanks lead the sizzling Sox by a game and a half and a Boston sweep would dump the Yanks into second place.

Stengel has selected Allie Reynolds (13-4) to face Ellis Kinder (18-5) before an estimated 75,000 plus crowd. Lefty Ed Lopat is the probable Yankee pitcher for the second encounter and Viv Raschi or Tommy Byrne for the third. The Sox are expected to counter with Jack Kramer and 21-game winner Mel Parnell.

Reynolds despite his impressive won-lost record, has had a rough season while Kinder is enjoying the best campaign of his career. Reynolds has completed only four of 25 starts. He turned in his best game last Saturday when he blanked the last place Washington Senators on three singles.

Kinder, who never won more than ten games in the majors until this season, is working on an eight game winning streak.

The return to action of Joe DiMaggio and possibly Catcher Yogi Berra greatly enhances the Yankee chances. DiMaggio bowed out of the second game in the Labor Day doubleheader in Philadelphia because of leg cramps but The Jolter reported the ailment has disappeared.

Berra, out with a fractured left thumb since Aug. 7, participated in a "pepper game" yesterday. He reported the digit "felt swell and I guess I'll play." The Yogi's big bat will receive a royal welcome.

While the Yankees and Red Sox go at each other the third place Cleveland Indians and fourth place Detroit Tigers will be battling.

The Tigers entertain the Indians in a two game series. The Indians trail the Yanks by four and one half games and the Tigers by six and one half.

Don Newcombe, big Negro righthander pitched the Dodgers to within a game of the Red Birds last night as he turned back the Boston Braves, 10-2 at Ebbets field. The Cards the Chicago Cubs and the entire American league were idle.

Newcombe, in bagging his 15th triumph, yielded only six hits and fanned seven to run his league-leading strikeout total to 126.

Philadelphia came from behind to beat the Giants, 4-2, in the ten inning oper but Leo Durocher's men took the nightcap, 4-1.

Larry Jansen had the Phils beaten, 2-0, with two out in the ninth when they rallied to tie up the game. Bill Nicholson's single broke it up in the following frame. The Cincinnati Red exploded for four runs in the tenth inning to clip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-3, under the lights in Pittsburgh.

Winning Pitcher Ewell Blackwell singled to start the rally and Johnny Wyrostek climaxed the uprising with a two-run triple. Ralph Kiner poled his 43rd homer for the Pirates and struck out for the end of the game.

Judge Dixon Is Affirmed In Bank Case

The Illinois appellate court from the second district has notified Judge George C. Dixon that a decision handed down by the local jurist several months ago has been affirmed by the upper court. The case is an interesting one in which the State bank of Paw Paw was plaintiff in an action which named C. A. Boyle and several other prominent residents of the Paw Paw vicinity as defendants. A hearing was conducted before the Master in Chancery and later came to the circuit court where it was subject to lengthy litigation.

In the litigation it developed that in 1931 the bank was in financial difficulties, and the Auditor of Public Accounts notified the directors that $25,658.44 represented by various notes which were past due, should be removed from the notes receivable account, as being of doubtful value. Accordingly, a director's meeting was held and they agreed to remove the notes and substitute their personal notes for the amount of the doubtful assets. The notes representing the doubtful assets were turned over to one of the directors, Frank Wheeler, to collect what he could on the notes. He succeeded in collecting in excess of $5,000.00.

Gave Personal Notes
At the time the Auditor suggested that the directors substitute their personal notes and put them into the bank as assets and informed the directors that the stockholders, at their next meeting, could pass a resolution to reimburse them for the money which they advanced to the bank.

At the next annual meeting of the stockholders, which was on July 5, 1932, the resolution was unanimously adopted. Litigation started on Dec. 26, 1944, when the State bank of Paw Paw, filed with others a complaint in the circuit court of Lee county, for sale of certain lands held by Frank Wheeler. In April, 1945, Bayle Harper filed a counter claim against the bank for reimbursement of losses sustained by John Harper, his father, as a purchasing director of the 1931 exchange of notes. On Jan. 4, 1947, the other directors who had signed notes in 1931, (and given to the bank in exchange for the doubtful paper), filed their counterclaims against the bank, demanding that they be reimbursed for the money which they had advanced in 1931, to save the bank from being liquidated. Bayle Harper dismissed his counterclaim and adopted the pleadings of the other counterclaimants.

Made Bank Solvent
Commenting upon the procedure, the appellate court says:

"As before stated, there is no question but that the directors in 1931, gave their personal notes to the bank to cover the face value of the amount of the notes that were withdrawn from its assets, or that all of the notes have been collected in full, and the bank has had the benefit of this transaction since 1931. It also clearly appears from the record that the purpose of this transaction was to render the bank solvent and prevent the necessity of closing the bank, or assessing the stockholders and that each and everyone of the stockholders was benefited by the action of the board of directors in proportion to the amount of stock that each of them held in the bank. The Master found, 'that there has been no evidence or even a suggestion that the transaction was fraudulent, unfair or due to any improper motive; that the transaction was solely a benefit to the bank and solely a detriment to the directors excepting for such incidental benefit derived by the directors as stockholders from the fact that no assessment would be necessary. That all of the directors advanced credit to the bank by exchanging their personal notes for the unbankable notes with the intention of obtaining reimbursement from the bank, when, as and if the bank should be financially able to do so.

"It is admitted that the bank, ever since the directors gave their notes for the poor assets, has been sound financially, and for the past several years has been paying substantial dividends.

"It is a well known fact that in 1931 and 1932, hundreds of banks were in financial difficulty, and their directors were called upon to either pay cash or give payable notes to the bank to save it from going into the hands of receivership. In most cases the bank issued debentures promising to repay them for the money that they advanced to save the bank, if, and when the bank became able to pay dividend. This was made a matter of record and was binding upon the bank to repay the directors for the money they had advanced. It seems too bad, under the circumstances in the present case, that the appellants were not properly advised of their legal rights, so they could have properly protected themselves, for the money that they had advanced.

"It is our conclusion that the trial court properly held that the appellants were not entitled to recover, and the decree of that court is affirmed."

Forreston Names an Irish Colleen as Its 'Queen' for Big Sauerkraut Event

Forreston, Ill., Sept. 7—Red-headed, Irish, and freckle-faced Marguerite Raymond, 17, a senior in the Forreston high school, has been named Sauerkraut Queen and will rule over festivities of Sauerkraut day here Thursday. Making the selection was Alan Ladd, Paramount pictures star, who chose her from among five finalists, all of whom, as per custom, are members of the senior class of Forreston high school.

Believed to be the first Irish girl ever to win the title in this predominantly German town of 1,100 population, Marguerite will occupy the queen's throne in the regal float holding the honor spot in the mile-long parade which opens the day's festivities. More than 35,000 persons, an all-time record gathering, are expected to engulf the little town.

Forreston Ready
But Forreston is ready for them. The "largest free meal in the world" will be as usual be served to everyone in attendance. The largest group of chefs ever mustered for the occasion will be on hand, with first preparations for the meal beginning in the gray hours before dawn, when the battery of cooks arrive to begin the fires of hickory and oak logs under the mammoth cauldrons.

The Forreston American Legion post, sponsors of the festival, announced that the parade will begin at 10 a. m., central standard time, allowing most visitors an extra hour for traveling. Serving of the nuge sauerkraut and wiener meal will begin at 11:30 a. m.

Allen to Talk
U. S. Representative Leo E. Allen of Galena, Ill., will deliver the main address on the speaking program which is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. His talk will be carried to the entire town by loud speaker and to the nation by one or more radio stations. Other brief talks will be made by city officials and visiting dignitaries.

The complete schedule for the Sprague, commander of the Forreston American Legion post which sponsors the festival, includes the following, with all events based on central standard time 10 a. m. Located about 25 miles southwest of Rockford at the junction of highways 26 and 72 Forreston can easily be reached from Chicago and northeastern Illinois by taking route 64, which reaches a junction with highway 26 about six miles south of Forreston.

Testimony in Warner Suit Is Underway

Judge Leon Zick of Oregon was presiding in Lee county circuit court today hearing arguments in an action brought by Henry C. Warner, executor of the estate of Albert Fixter, deceased and William E. Meyers, former resident of Dixon, now living in California. Attorneys Robert Bracken and George Nichols appeared for the plaintiff in the action while the defense was represented by Attorney Albert Hanneken of Dixon and John Hall of Rockford.

In the proceeding, the defense several days ago filed an action claiming $25,000 for their client from the plaintiff in a counterclaim. Several witnesses had been subpoenaed to testify during the course of the hearing. W. H. McMaster, former president of the Dixon National Bank was the first witness called for the plaintiff and he testified to the presentation of a check in the amount of $7,500 to the bank in 1938 by Meyers.

Warner on Stand
Henry C. Warner was the second witness summoned to testify and said that he had known Albert Fixter for about 20 years and transacted business for him. He described his possession a 25 acre tract of land northwest of Dixon, a 55 acre far min good condition in Palmyra township, approximately $8,000 in bank deposits and about $9,000 in government bonds, together with a note in the amount of $4,468.05. In 1930 the witness stated, Fixter became alarmed at the banking outlook, and gave Warner three notes of $5,000 each on which the witness paid the interest and the original amount. He presented checks made payable to Fixter for the amounts.

After Fixter's death, Warner testified that he visited his premises and found crude household furnishings and an old fur coat. At the time however, he was possessed of farm machinery, grain and livestock on his farm.

Attorney Heil who objected repeatedly throughout the questioning of the plaintiff's witness, urged the court to strike all of the testimony, but was overruled by Judge Zick.

Dr. Henry J. McCoy testified that he was called to the Fixter farm on a stormy night in 1936 and found Fixter wandering about without clothing, and added: "He thought that someone was trying to steal a grey horse from the farm at 1 o'clock in the morning."

The doctor stated that at that time he formed the opinion that Fixter was a mental case. In 1938 or 1939, he doctor continued, he treated Fixter at the William Meyers home for pneumonia. He was very sick and in a delirious condition, the physician said, but recovered. The witness testified that he made several visits to the Meyers home and during these and his conversations with the patient, he formed the opinion that he was mentally incompetent.

The hearing recessed shortly before noon to 1:30 today.

IRISH GIRL NAMED SAUERKRAUT QUEEN!—Chosen by Alan Ladd, Paramount pictures star, to rule over 14-tivities of Sauerkraut Day, Thursday (Sept. 15) at Forreston, Ill., is red-headed and freckle-faced Marguerite Raymond, 17, of Forreston high school. More than 35,000 persons are expected for the event, which features the "largest free meal in the world," at which more than two tons of sauerkraut and a ton of wieners are given away.

Rushville Merchants Given a 'Bum's Rush'

Rushville, Ill. Sept. 7—(AP)—Rushville police are looking for a large size man with a small size plan for swindling merchants.

At least two merchants reported they were bilked last week by a big man who swiped goods off a store shelf and then acted like a disgruntled customer who wants his money back.

One clerk cheerfully handed him $13.75 for three cans of paint which, it turned out later, had been lifted while the clerk's back was turned.

Another store clerk refused to refund $9.90 for a pair of boys pants on the stranger's complaint that they didn't fit. But although suspicious, the clerk hesitated to accuse the man of fraud. Instead, he settled for $4.10 in cash, which the big man took without much fuss.

Saturday Is Deadline for Fact-Finders

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—The White House said today that tentative plans call for the steel fact-finding board to report to President Truman Saturday morning.

That day is the deadline for the presidential panel to turn over its recommendations for settling a wage dispute that threatens a strike in the steel industry.

The CIO Steel Workers union is demanding a 30-cents-an-hour "package" increase. It has set Sept. 14 for a strike unless a settlement is reached before then.

The White House said the board members will visit President Truman Friday afternoon, according to present plans, and make their report Saturday morning.

If this arrangement is adhered to, it was said, the report probably will be made public for Sunday morning newspapers.

Newman Clubs in Chicago Meeting

Chicago, Sept. 7—(AP)—The Newman Club Federation, an organization of 400 Catholic clubs from secular colleges and universities, opened its 35th annual convention today.

More than 600 Catholic students will take part in a four-day discussion of "Catholic Action on College Campuses."

The Rev. Leonard Cowley of the University of Minnesota, national chaplain of the Newman Clubs, will give the opening address tonight.

Donald R. Gerth, 20-year-old University of Chicago graduate student, is chairman of the convention, and Ellsworth Schmitz, 26, of Wausau, Wis., is vice-chairman. Schmitz is a graduate student in political science at the University of Wisconsin.

The first Newman Club was formed in 1899 at the University of Pennsylvania in memory of Cardinal John Henry Newman, 19th century Oxford scholar.

Britain's Top Advisers Here In Cash Crisis

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—Britain's foreign policy and economic chiefs arrived today for talks with the United States and Canada on the British dollar crisis.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps came by train from New York where their ship docked last night.

A reporter told him that Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Charles Abbott said yesterday that Canada would be glad to see Britain given the right to spend its Marshall plan dollars anywhere.

Bevin smiled over this idea for a moment, said he had no comment but then added, "It sounds rather good, anyway."

Meet at Hotel
In three power talks starting in a fifth floor conference room at the state department at 10 a. m., the British leaders are expected to seek American agreement to speed up spending of dollars for strategic materials such as tin and rubber.

At the same time they want to relax a 1946 Anglo-American loan agreement provision so that Britain can increase discrimination against buying American goods.

These and other measures, which American officials are expected to receive sympathetically, are designed to (1) increase the flow of badly needed dollars to Britain and (2) enable the British to curtail the spending of dollars and gold they now have.

Bevin was ready to argue, should the point come up, that the troubles which beset Britain are not due to its Socialist government programs. He was somewhat edgy when a newsman asked him last night about charges that British Socialism has bungled the nation's economic affairs.

He Gets Snooty
"Unintelligent people always look for a scapegoat," he replied. And later, "We are not here to blame anybody and are not going to allow anyone to blame us."

The third party in the conference here—which will go on for at least a week—is Canada. Canada is one of the biggest customers of both the United States and Britain. She is tied to both countries by close economic and military-political arrangements.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who will carry the ball for the United States throughout the series of meetings, promised a public report on the first session as well as periodic disclosures on further sessions.

Secretary of State Acheson and ECA Chief Paul Hoffman are serving with Snyder on the American delegation. Canada is represented by Douglas C. Abbott, minister of finance, and Lester B. Pearson, minister for external affairs.

Dad Steels Self to Tell Polio Stricken Tots Mother Is Dead

Kansas City, Sept. 7—(AP)—A heart broken father tried to steel himself today to tell his three polio-stricken children that their mother had died of the same disease.

Southern Schools in Aid Challenge

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7—(AP)—A group of southern Illinois officials today asked the state supreme court to order reduction in both flat grants and equalization aid which the state pays to schools.

The petition challenges a recent ruling by the Illinois attorney general that the state must pay flat grants in full and cut its equalization awards.

Under the attorney general's ruling, the state would pay about 87 percent of the full equalization claims. This would be increased slightly if the court orders both forms of aid reduced.

Council Gets Complaint by Five Clothiers

in the city within a period of a year.

It was hinted also that at least one local firm is dealing in this so-called "unfair business practice."

Miller said that among the "customers" of this Rockford man, were many in the courthouse. He admonished the press "not to print that" but later made the statement all-inclusive by saying that "the man" also "made" other business establishments in the city in his weekly or bi-weekly calls.

What, if anything, could be done about it?

Surprise! Surprise! Surprise!
The council appeared innocent of the whole matter.

Said Mayor Fred Hofmann: "This council has always stood for law and order and more so when it affects our local business."

He queried City Atty. Gerald Jones as to what legal steps could be taken to stamp out the "lottery."

Jones said that he would need a complaint signed by "somebody," the "somebody" supposedly a participant or a member of good standing in the suit club.

It's Embarrassing, Too
Miller said that he knew of many members but certainly didn't care to "embarrass" some of his best customers, whom he inferred were also "members" in good standing.

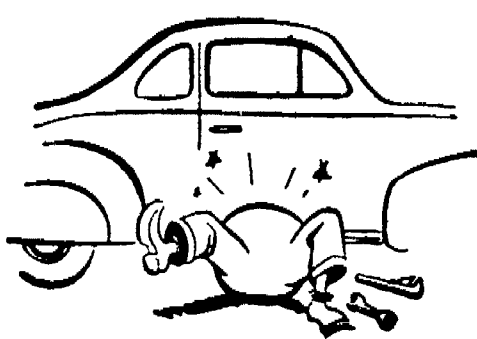

It all wound up with Mayor Hofmann charging the city attorney with the duty of investigating the legal aspects of the suit club lottery and to report back to the council at the next meeting.
